KETT Systems

(Transverse and Conveying)

Throughout the world, Mink pioneered the use of brushes as multi-purpose tools.

From hand-held brushes to universal machine brushes Mink has played the role of pacesetter, repeatedly giving impetus to the market with innovations such as the Mink KETT System. Every year Mink produces approximately three million brushes of over 16,000 different types.

If you are a machine builder with specific design criteria for an industrial brush application, we can help. If you use machinery with Mink brushes, we can provide replacement brushes.
